

For over 25 years the Medieval & Renaissance Faire at the Ohio State University has covered the South Oval of campus with merchants, minstrels, historic demonstrations, dancing, swordplay, and seven stages of continuous entertainment. In recent years, we've also attracted around 9,000 patrons. All of this is tied together by the program - an eight-page artistic booklet containing a map, vendor and performer descriptions, performance schedules, and advertising. The program is distributed from several prominent places across the faire site and often becomes a collector's item. It is a wonderful advertising opportunity for any business or organization.

Advertisements are sold in four sizes. Any hard-copy grayscale graphic of appropriate size can be printed. If your business does not have a design to send us but would still like to be included in the program, you may send us the text you'd like included and we will create a simple advertisement for you for a small additional fee. Thank you very much for your support.
